

Dear Friends:

Subject: Teach How To Catch A Fish

I trust all of you along with your family are doing fine. As some of you already know that since 2004 SDF (Sun Development Foundation) has been assisting people to acquire marketable skills (Repairer for: Mobile Phones, Generators, UPS, CNG, garment machine operator, beautician, hand/machine embroidery etc.) To increase awareness and expand our skill development program SDF is planning a Gala dinner .To make this first fund raising a huge success I am counting on your early support and commitment. SDF is working with few state of the art institutions like MITI, Hunar Foundation and Aman Tech. Funds generated will be utilized to support the qualified and needy to acquire in demand skills to make themselves productive, able to fight poverty and become peaceful citizens. This gala fund raising dinner will be held on Friday 11th Nov 2011 at 8:00pm, venue: Bahria Auditorium, Karsaz Road, Karachi. VIP enclosure (10 persons) will be sold for one lakh each. Standard enclosure (10 persons) will be sold for Rs. 50,000/- and Individual tickets for Rs. 2,500 /.

The Objective of SDF is to teach people 'teach how to catch a fish rather than give a fish'. Presently with the assistance of the donors SDF has established at J&M clothing a training centre for garment stitching operators. Every month 30 to 40 females are inducted as trainees to become garment stitching operators in two months. The first month in training centre and the second in production line. During training the trainees receive a stipend and after training every single trainee is absorbed in the factory at Rs. 7200/month. After six months their income is increased to an average of Rs. 10000/month. The 38th batch is under training at the moment.
